Act 1 Scene 1- The Garden

The ballet begins in the garden of the palace in the kingdom of Agrabah. Jasmine appears out of the garden and dances, longing to see the outside world and connect with the people her family rules. Jasmine's handmaids join her and gently try to remind her of the joyful lives they lead in the kingdom. We are introduced to Raja the tiger, Jasmine's loyal companion and Jasmine's mother, the Sultana. The Sultana's royal advisor Jafar brings out his trusty sidekick Iago and her parrots. The Sultana trusts Jafar to help guide her in leading Agrabah but Jafar has sinister plans to seize power for himself. The palace dancers, led by Gamzatti, entertain everyone. The frivolity of the entertainment reminds Jasmine she feels restless of palace life and feels detached from the everyday people her family is supposed to lead. With the help of her handmaids, she disguises herself to sneak away to the marketplace of Agrabah.

Act 1 Scene 2- The Marketplace

The marketplace is bustling with children and mischievous street urchins and merchants selling flowers and food to the townspeople. The Ladies of Agrabah elegantly dance representing the everyday citizens of the kingdom. We are introduced to Aladdin and Abu and their playful antics. Jasmine enters the marketplace and takes off her cloak, revealing her identity to Aladdin. Aladdin immediately recognizes her and bows to the future Sultana. Jasmine reassures him that they are equals and she wants to be a leader for the people. Aladdin and Jasmine realize they are kindred spirits and decide they will work to change the distance between the common people of Agrabah and the royal court, delivering a more just world for all. Jafar spots Jasmine with Aladdin and sends the Royal Guards after him. Jafar plans to use Aladdin to enter the Cave of Wonders, as he believes there is a magical entity within it that will help him seize power from the Sultana. The Sands of Time magically transport Aladdin through the desert and an oasis towards the Cave of Wonders.
